

12 seasons of poetry

on the buses

ARTSTRA

poetry*moves*

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

SEASON

12

October 2022 - September 2023

Last Dance

Teresa Anderson

Battle Ground, Washington

SEPTEMBER 2022 | 012-01

Sliding past the nerves with hidden reserves Forget the fear just bring your gear
A last look in the glass the shadow the pass Step into the lane swagger the vain Movement across time and freedom of space
A breath of sublime rewards motion with grace

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Lessons I'm Learning From My Garden

Sossity Chiricuzio

Portland, Oregon

SEPTEMBER 2022 | 012-02

Roses don't survive because they are beautiful.
Their roots are deep and stubborn, twisting underground, foot by unlit foot. Bypassing borders and paths alike.
Pushing up through domesticated landscapes into a spot of sunlight they choose. They bloom as resistance. They hook their thorns into thin air and climb the sky.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Shape Shift

Genevieve DeGuzman

Portland, Oregon

SEPTEMBER 2022 | 012-03

An iceberg's color is determined by how the ice interacts with light. What color would I be under your absent gaze? You're not here anymore to greet me at baggage claim and there's a shift of light and understanding as the carousel whirls around, beading and un-beading, missing you.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program of the nonprofit Artstra in partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Transient Ambitions

Betty Fullard-Leo

Camas, Washington

I thought I'd walked this way before

Past shells and driftwood—

Hermit crabs galore.

I thought I'd made my mark

When in the dark

The tide came up

And now my footprints are no more.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Backyard Observances

Julianne Hudson

Vancouver, Washington

SEPTEMBER 2022 | 012-05

A child's laughter
Ripples through the courtyard
A melodious twinkle of joy Reminding me
Life doesn't have to be so hard

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Friendship

Jody Katopothis

Vancouver, Washington

SEPTEMBER 2022 | 012-06

Moving toward desired destinations you and I sit side by side sharing small talk and carefully chosen secrets humor, regrets and longings as we ride our ten minute friendship comfortably unfolds until reaching our stops and while the brakes hiss we part as strangers, our newfound bonds untied

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Powell Butte

Dvora Robinson

Portland, Oregon

SEPTEMBER 2022 | 012-07

Coyote on Powell Butte in tall grass.
Conifers growing glowing green tips
under cloud swooped sky, dark with promise.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Longing

Raúl Sánchez, City of Redmond Poet Laureate 2019-2021

Seattle, Washington

SEPTEMBER 2022 | 012-08

Call me immortal	call me eternal
call me everlasting	call me alive
just call me—	call me sometime
call me something	you already know
call me to tell me	what I do not know Just call me. Please,	call me—
Just call me anytime.	Call me, please...

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Octopus

Monika Spykerman

Washougal, Washington

SEPTEMBER 2022 | 012-09

I have a beak

But I'm not a bird

I fly through water

Wingless, changeable as a cloud

Many-armed as Vishnu

Hiding in a cave or plume of ink

Grasping for a moment then letting go

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Avian Guru

Anand Tawker

Vancouver, Washington

SEPTEMBER 2022 | 012-10

Walking in the woods at dusk Attentive to the travails of the trail
Your call suddenly piercing the stillness Looking up, I see I'm in this cathedral of trees In the nave and by the filtering light we connect Awe, mystery, reverence and gratitude Raising my sights every time, a spiritual uplift.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

SEASON

11

October 2021 - September 2022

Affinity

Margaret Chula

Portland, Oregon

OCTOBER 2021 | 011-01

Claws anchored to the riprap, a great blue heron dozes.

I stand on a sandbar, on the edge of earth and water alone and discontent waiting for a sign.

Then, alerted by sound or motion or perhaps a shadow across his great closed lids, the hunched Rodin awakens—lets out a squawk that hoists him beyond water into sky, wings flip-flapping against the ebbing light.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

A River's Voices

Daphne Clifton

Portland, Oregon

OCTOBER 2021 | 011-02

Song sparrows ardently sing up the sun as a quiet river moves through our town.
Look closely among the maples and oaks for signs of the first peoples who named this river. Listen carefully—the river has memorized their voices, their songs.
Listen. She's singing to us now.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Footprints

Paulann Petersen

Portland, Oregon

Each day you leave—wherever you've stepped—the shape of your journey.
Go where you're needed.
Step with care. From that earth left behind as you walk, your faint trail shines.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

A Map of the Universe

Rena Priest, Washington State Poet Laureate

Bellingham, Washington

Someone once told me,

“The longest distance between any two points is a shortcut.”

Maybe so, but only if you get lost.

Luckily, getting lost is impossible whilst living for adventure.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Cloud-wisp Patterns

Gay Garland Reed

Vancouver, Washington

OCTOBER 2021 | 011-05

This morning I greeted a tie-dye sky Clouds were streaks of white against a pale indigo backdrop as if someone had bunched up the sky in the corner of the universe and dipped it in pale indigo dye

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Transition

Stephanie Spencer

Vancouver, Washington

OCTOBER 2021 | 011-06

Wind applauding in trees the final curtain for a villainous summer after a stale encore of still dry days.
Geese harkening in clouds
the sanguine change for a somber audience.
Move on, they say,
it's time.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Squid Jigging Midnight

Armin Tolentino, Clark County Poet Laureate

Vancouver, Washington

OCTOBER 2021 | 011-07

Like ghosts, gauzy across the winter sheen of the sound.
The jigs glow and dance, dazzle with their crown of hooks.
A séance. Prayer for contact.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Catch and Release

Emmett Wheatfall

Portland, Oregon

OCTOBER 2021 | 011-08

For what is left of me be it known to you When you fall, I will catch you, then release you so that again and again—you will fall for me

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Shorthand

Christine Lamb White

Vancouver, Washington

OCTOBER 2021 | 011-09

Poem is a short word written by hand powered by adding up the story's total sum pieces of mystery's clues—waves of raves or rants talking to each other by relating rhythmic chants.
Patchwork quilt of words in pieces, comforts like a friend that greets us. Passions burst and take their stand, I wonder where this poem will land?

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Trance

Elizabeth Wood

Vancouver, Washington

brush teeth and shower

absorb the coffee

daily puzzle online feed the dogs

muscle memory

while my thoughts are far away

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

SEASON

10

October 2020 - September 2021

The Name for This Season

Tiel Aisha Ansari

Portland, Oregon

OCTOBER 2020 | 010-01

Sunny days after frost. Chinook on their redds their flanks crimson as elderberry leaves.

Egg-spent corpses float to the shore.

Gold and scarlet leaves in windblown heaps.

If I had the naming of this mild season

I'd call it in an ancient tongue:

Chinook summer.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Love as a Bee Sting

Genevieve DeGuzman

Portland, Oregon

OCTOBER 2020 | 010-02

How can I call myself lucky walking through tall grasses, when I've never been stung? Furry butts with lancets scooted off petaled pedestals. Why so gentle, yellow-striped flying pandas, so shy to sting my cheek? Your soft landing closes my throat but swells my heart too.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Gaining Time

Tanna Engdahl

Vancouver, Washington

OCTOBER 2020 | 010-03

The sun talks through crackling leaves when summer heat tolls the day.
We measure time in moon shapes losing hours to nonsense reclaimed holding a grandchild.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Mornings

Hillary M. Marshall

Washougal, Washington

OCTOBER 2020 | 010-04

I crawl from under my shell peer out wondering what the world beholds When the sun yawns yellow, orange, red across the sky hazily exposing new wonders so far undiscovered

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Seeker

Madeline Martin

Vancouver, Washington

OCTOBER 2020 | 010-05

She'd find her fingers trailing up the stairs and into a silent room where eyes would sit upon a speed-dialed computer screen, together testing whims of patience and fury for the time it took to operate to her speed.
This taught her to think and contemplate.
Knowledge arrived on time serenely.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Haiku for Grandpa

Dave R. Muñoz

Battle Ground, Washington

OCTOBER 2020 | 010-06

“Gramps, how did you work a sickle all day?”

“Swing right, body—swing left, soul...”

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Doors and Mirrors

Álvaro Tarragó

Portland, Oregon

OCTOBER 2020 | 010-07

One door leads to another And another leads to more,
An infinite number of mirrors Fixed against opposite walls.
I spoke to the prophets and from them I learned:
Freedom is an illusion
And we all remain in the cave.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Poetry Matters

Anand Tawker

Vancouver, Washington

OCTOBER 2020 | 010-08

Between the ineffable and the eloquent
In that liminal space, like the time before the dawn
You exist as a mélange of words and feelings in some inchoate form Intimations of lines to come, as word silhouettes become emergent Your presence is felt ever more, and you are determined to be born Midwifed by emotion, long labor, and nurtured with care You become the poem.

poetry*moves*

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Half a Sonnet Stepping Into Tomorrow

Armin Tolentino

Vancouver, Washington

OCTOBER 2020 | 010-09

I slept and missed my stop. I froze and missed my chance to say I'm sorry. Just today I counted out one hundred private ways I blew my only life. But as I wished for a dozen do-overs, the future waved to me outside. A blessing I'd done nothing to deserve. Not too late. I'd just arrived—

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Only You

Emmett Wheatfall

Portland, Oregon

OCTOBER 2020 | 010-10

Only you can nudge the northern lights, make sleepy clouds whisper good night.
Force winter winds to ebb and flow, kiss weeping willows in yesterday's glow.
Only you.
Only you.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

SEASON

9

January - September 2020

Soft Serve

Ian Caton

Vancouver, Washington

JANUARY 2020 | 009-01

Got two kids in the Hyundai driving down HWY 99 to get chocolate dipped soft serve listening to Springsteen this is your home town

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Earthworm

Lisa Demoreno

Battle Ground, Washington

JANUARY 2020 | 009-02

His lies were like the earthworm, Tunneling silently beneath my feet in the loamy subterrain Sometimes glimpsed at dawn or after a heavy rain
A flash of brown tail and rubbery rings Stretching quickly back into the secret earth again Leaving behind only a thin fluorescent trail of shimmering doubt.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Saudades

Leigh Hancock

White Salmon, Washington

JANUARY 2020 | 009-03

On the avenue to Gilgamesh the elephants are saying their good-byes.
We were not here yesterday,
nor the day before.
Too cold, too cold, the summer snows, the boxcars hurrying south.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Grasshoppers

Rainy Knight

Vancouver, Washington

JANUARY 2020 | 009-04

Upon opening my door one morning a grasshopper, uninvited, hopped in I looked up and the ground undulated with grasshoppers
I looked beyond and my large garden was in the process of being ravaged It was May, the sun shone as I closed the door

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Recipe

Claudia Castro Luna, Washington State Poet Laureate Seattle, WA

JANUARY 2020 | 009-05

Not the paper, not the pen, nor the ink but the hand that glides across the page stringing words one after the other like bright lights on an outdoor garland illuminating the feast over an old table laid that would otherwise in shadows remain

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Write Yourself a Love Poem

Toni Lumbrazo Luna

Vancouver, Washington

JANUARY 2020 | 009-06

Tonight
late in the calendar year light a fire, take your wool sweater from the closet while water boils for tea then write yourself a love poem to outlast the cold months of winter

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

At the Station

Robin O'Brien

Vancouver, Washington

JANUARY 2020 | 009-07

Tracks demand attention, their lines define the space and lead away somewhere.

The trains themselves screech and roar and as they charge past, the pigeons reshuffle on the wire.

Those wheels are bearing you away. As my feet meet pavement, I walk into the hush that follows the leaving.

The pigeons begin to doze, the day now hollowed out.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Life Soup

Jennifer Pratt-Walter

Vancouver, Washington

JANUARY 2020 | 009-08

We are our own daily miracle, linked by water's wet abacus that never stops its counting. We simmer in Life's cauldron, flower and mouse and bee and you and even me, all seasoning water's broad unspeakable soup.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Stopping Time

Stephanie Spencer

Vancouver, Washington

JANUARY 2020 | 009-09

The unexpected joy of Slowing down to follow a bus

With tiny sleepy faces peering out the back windows,

Allowing me to spy a heron's morning silhouette on the lake

At the bend of the road

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Old Man

Terry Vetter

Kalama, Washington

JANUARY 2020 | 009-10

Yestertime is a remembery of her walking with one hand swallowed in mine her free hand thrust forward announcing “Me Two.” Today Daddy time is up.
She marches in a pink hat.
Me Too?

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

SEASON

8

July - December 2019

Fox

Layali U.

4th Grade, Sprouting Seeds School

JULY 2019 | 008-01

Fox, softly stepping,
Your brush of a tail suddenly quivers,
A flash of orange against the snow.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Cats

Nafisa U.

2nd Grade, Sprouting Seeds School

Bold and daring, eyes are stars, sleek, smooth body, long, long whiskers.
Ears that prick with a nick.
Lazy, maybe grumpy, spunky, hilarious, brave and smart.
Cats are cool, they always are.
I love cats all the time!

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Fern

Lyla B.

3rd Grade, Sprouting Seeds School

Fiddle head fern, unfurl, uncurl, Lushness, green, down deep, mountain deep, Swirling life, thy teachers say,
A moment now we fly away,
The secret ivy spindly, Deep, the secret hidden, Fernly creep.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Bus Dogs

Mikaylee F.

9th Grade, Vancouver School of Arts and Academics

JULY 2019 | 008-04

This is a poem for the dogs on the bus,
The most loyal of friends to travel with us.
For the lap dogs, the service dogs, the “you’re not allowed on so we’ll pretend you’re a toy” dogs.
This is a poem for the dogs on the bus.
Kindly share it with them, because they can’t read.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Give Some Kind

Natalie W.

4th Grade, Chinook Elementary

Kindness can be a big hug

Kindness can be giving love

Kindness can be a dream come true

Kindness can have something to do with you

Just have a kind mind

And sparkle and shine

And just give some kind

poetry*moves*

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

In My Basket

Anna C.

2nd Grade, Southridge Elementary

JULY 2019 | 008-06

A Bunny can be Chocolate, Marshmallow, Honey,
I eat the ears first.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Frog's Song

Madeline C.

12th Grade, Camas High

JULY 2019 | 008-07

In the midst of the night Hear the frogs singing Their soothing, peaceful lullaby
As it lures me into deep, restful sleep

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Kindness is a Match

Cass K.

4th Grade, Chinook Elementary

JULY 2019 | 008-08

Kindness is a match.

Light it.

Spread it.

And let it burn like a wildfire.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Moose Wearing a Tie

Emmy P.

Kindergarten, Lakeshore Elementary

JULY 2019 | 008-09

Moose wearing a tie,
He likes eating pancakes in the sky.
Have you seen him flying by?
Moose wearing a tie.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Honeybee Haiku

Gwendolyn Morgan

Clark County Poet Laureate 2018-2020

JULY 2019 | 008-10

Honeybee, winged light there's enough room in my heart for joy, gold-leaf combs

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

SEASON

7

January - June 2019

Untitled

Suzann M. Baldwin

La Center, WA

JANUARY 2019 | 007-01

Remember all those feelings you left twisting in the wind?

Here they come again.

poetry*moves*

Poetry Moves is a program of the nonprofit
Arts of Clark County in partnership with C-TRAN.

artsofclarkcounty.org

Old Memories

an'ya Bartolović

Florence, OR

JANUARY 2019 | 007-02

old memories
like tangled fish hooks impossible to pick up only one without all the others

poetry*moves*

Poetry Moves is a program of the nonprofit
Arts of Clark County in partnership with C-TRAN.

artsofclarkcounty.org

Hole

D.H. Carol

Vancouver, WA

JANUARY 2019 | 007-03

There was a hole put into me so very long ago.

It will never fill with me.

No radiant self.

Part of me gone before

I could say no.

poetry*moves*

Poetry Moves is a program of the nonprofit
Arts of Clark County in partnership with C-TRAN.

artsofclarkcounty.org

Wildflowers

Laurie Cutter

Ridgefield, WA

JANUARY 2019 | 007-04

The quick delicious dropping away downhill Onrush of honey—suckled air, mingled swirl of earth and sky, blurred leaves, buttercups, morning glory

poetry*moves*

Poetry Moves is a program of the nonprofit
Arts of Clark County in partnership with C-TRAN.

artsofclarkcounty.org

I remember

Lauren Duquette

Vancouver, WA

hawk feather smoke cedar bough crackle heat red brick fireplace our home, our shell all cheeks ablaze atop precious sweated bodies smiling and round

poetry*moves*

Poetry Moves is a program of the nonprofit
Arts of Clark County in partnership with C-TRAN.

artsofclarkcounty.org

Soaked

David Hubka

Vancouver, WA

JANUARY 2019 | 007-06

Circles scatter across curbside puddles

Dancing erratically to

The hidden pattern of the Percussive falling rain.

Foolishly, we skip from street to curb

As if we can avoid getting wet;

Like we aren't already soaked.

poetry*moves*

Poetry Moves is a program of the nonprofit
Arts of Clark County in partnership with C-TRAN.

artsofclarkcounty.org

Historical disaster

Holly Miller

Vancouver, WA

JANUARY 2019 | 007-07

If I was with Aaron, I wouldn't feel so lame.

If I was with Elias, I might have a cool last name.

If I dated Ben, my trust issues would be worse.

But if I dated Bryan, I'd probably be in a hearse.

poetry*moves*

Poetry Moves is a program of the nonprofit
Arts of Clark County in partnership with C-TRAN.

artsofclarkcounty.org

Queen Anne's Lace

Gay Garland Reed

Vancouver, WA

JANUARY 2019 | 007-08

When Queen Anne's Lace,
in all its delicate grace, appears along the roadside we know that we are sliding down the back of summer.

poetry*moves*

Poetry Moves is a program of the nonprofit
Arts of Clark County in partnership with C-TRAN.

artsofclarkcounty.org

Untitled

Jacob Salzer

Vancouver, WA

JANUARY 2019 | 007-09

empty theater...

the weight of trash

poetry*moves*

Poetry Moves is a program of the nonprofit
Arts of Clark County in partnership with C-TRAN.

artsofclarkcounty.org

note to the letter carrier

Mark Sargent

Agia Eirini, Sparti, Greece

JANUARY 2019 | 007-10

If the intended is absent or dead please,
forward to the void.

poetry*moves*

Poetry Moves is a program of the nonprofit
Arts of Clark County in partnership with C-TRAN.

artsofclarkcounty.org

Untitled

Melissa Clarke Ward

Sisters, OR

JANUARY 2019 | 007-11

my uphill shadow soft and composed the edge, radiant

poetry*moves*

Poetry Moves is a program of the nonprofit
Arts of Clark County in partnership with C-TRAN.

artsofclarkcounty.org

SEASON

6

July - December 2018

Ode to Summer

Annie S. — 3rd Grade, Eisenhower Elementary

Poets in the Schools Program

Summer, I love you.

Touching the tulips that glow
as the river gently flows.

Looking at the ocean as the waves crash as the sun comes out all the people play and shout.

Summer, I love you!

poetry*moves*

Poetry Moves is a program of the nonprofit Arts of Clark County in partnership with C-TRAN and Poets in the Schools, a program created by Christopher Luna, Clark County Poet Laureate (2013-17).

artsofclarkcounty.org

How the Phoenix Flies

Christina S. — 12th Grade, Vancouver School of Arts and Academics

Poets in the Schools Program

Sometimes we forget that the fire will not again burn and kindling refuses flame
'Til the eyes dry their tears and the hands steady their course so again Hope may blaze from phoenix wings.

poetry*moves*

Poetry Moves is a program of the nonprofit Arts of Clark County in partnership with C-TRAN and Poets in the Schools, a program created by Christopher Luna, Clark County Poet Laureate (2013-17).

artsofclarkcounty.org

Strangers

Christina S. — 12th Grade, Vancouver School of Arts and Academics

Poets in the Schools Program

JULY 2018 | 006-03

When our televisions scream, wailing grief and the papers bleed tragedy from ever' leaf, When hope has seemed to run her course and our very touch it seems does shame endorse,
It is the strangers, human neighbors Who in kindness of random labors
That remind us that we are worth it.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Across the River

Ella J. — 4th Grade, Hough Elementary

Poets in the Schools Program

JULY 2018 | 006-04

Feeling weary, afraid to jump

Crossing the river gathering courage

to take flight.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

To be a Book in 2068

Grace W. — 5th Grade, Union Ridge Elementary

Poets in the Schools Program

JULY 2018 | 006-05

I hold many pages of wonders and stories, Perhaps that is why I used to get so much glory.

But now I sit here on this dusty old shelf, and I have tried but I just can't open myself.

Oh, if only they knew all the things I could do,
They would get off their phones and come down here too.

poetry*moves*

Poetry Moves is a program of the nonprofit Arts of Clark County in partnership with C-TRAN and Poets in the Schools, a program created by Christopher Luna, Clark County Poet Laureate (2013-17).

artsofclarkcounty.org

The Butterfly that Stands Out

Hanna P. — 5th Grade, Union Ridge Elementary

Poets in the Schools Program

Hi, hi butterfly

You love to sing and dance, oh my!

You may not always like the song but you always try and dance along.

I love that you like to try new things
As you glide around with your colorful wings.

poetry*moves*

Poetry Moves is a program of the nonprofit Arts of Clark County in partnership with C-TRAN and Poets in the Schools, a program created by Christopher Luna, Clark County Poet Laureate (2013-17).

artsofclarkcounty.org

Land of Magic

Lillianna K. — 5th Grade, Union Ridge Elementary

Poets in the Schools Program

JULY 2018 | 006-07

This is a place where no worries come out during the day Where you can run around and just play
No parents to wave you hello or goodbye No homework or books just the beautiful stars in the black night sky Here you have no bedtime at all Here in this land of magic you will no longer be afraid to fall.

poetry*moves*

Poetry Moves is a program of the nonprofit Arts of Clark County in partnership with C-TRAN and Poets in the Schools, a program created by Christopher Luna, Clark County Poet Laureate (2013-17).

artsofclarkcounty.org

The Beach

Margaret H. — 4th Grade, Hearthwood Elementary

Poets in the Schools Program

To the west, to the beach Soft sand covers my feet
Like a blanket, warm and relaxed Wind whistling, salt water crashing on the sand Seagulls sing
Like a choir.

poetry*moves*

Poetry Moves is a program of the nonprofit Arts of Clark County in partnership with C-TRAN and Poets in the Schools, a program created by Christopher Luna, Clark County Poet Laureate (2013-17).

artsofclarkcounty.org

Spaceships

Noah S. — 5th Grade, Union Ridge Elementary

Poets in the Schools Program

JULY 2018 | 006-09

Discovery

Helpful Fearless

Soaring Flying Falling

“One small step for man, one large step for mankind.”

Blasting Shaking Flying

Large Important

Apollo

poetry*moves*

Poetry Moves is a program of the nonprofit Arts of Clark County in partnership with C-TRAN and Poets in the Schools, a program created by Christopher Luna, Clark County Poet Laureate (2013-17).

artsofclarkcounty.org

Snowy Mountains

Nyomi S. — 4th Grade, Hough Elementary

Poets in the Schools Program

High and low the mountains go there up top with white blank snow When you look below
there's not a home where you will feel all alone.

poetry*moves*

Poetry Moves is a program of the nonprofit Arts of Clark County in partnership with C-TRAN and Poets in the Schools, a program created by Christopher Luna, Clark County Poet Laureate (2013-17).

artsofclarkcounty.org

SEASON

5

January - June 2018

Reflections

April Bullard

Vancouver, WA

A bright reflection of my face shimmers on the window like a ghost, flickering a million emotions in disconnected frames of a living movie.
What does that spectral image expose?
What face do I show the world?

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Elevate the Floor

Diane Cammer

Vancouver, WA

When our glass dreams range impossibly high we brush aside bruised clouds with open palms turn to our toes to lift us up fill our lungs with tempest air and everyone will watch us rise.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

One Heart's Desire (an excerpt)

Denise L. Campbell

Vancouver, WA

whatever song
had fluttered there within the confine of my ribs still sings deep among the briar, the only bed
that's fated for the gentle rose.

ARTSTRA

poetry*moves*

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

In A Pow Wow

Stella Jeng Guillory

Vancouver, WA

I am the drum.

A dozen drummers sit surrounding me.

They sing and howl, like coyotes.

I am the circle. The circle of dancers is forming.

Its tail curls up to its beginning.

Two dancers embrace each other.

The circle of loving continues.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

At Home

Jennifer Pratt-Walter

Vancouver, WA

Here the mossless stone has settled.

Here where peace unstirs a restless mind, your primal home is waiting,
door open.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Time

Pat Sciuchetti

Vancouver, WA

Scoop it up in your fist.

Squeeze it through your fingers.

Rip it. Shred it. Grate it on a cheese grater.

Breathe it. Taste it. Slurp its tangy juice.

Stare it in the eye.

Swirl in its fierce current.

Wring it dry!

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Daybreak

Gary F. Suda

Battle Ground, WA

The lift of morning, caught between dense fog of coffee's kiss and first light.

The hydrangea lumbers up the red brick wall.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Bus Stop

Susan Williams

Vancouver, WA

Find a seat and sit a spell.

Close your eyes,

take a breath,

smile a smile.

Feel the motion as you move to the next stop in your life.

Open your eyes.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

In-Between

Angela Winfield

Vancouver, WA

It's in the grey spaces Between the yin and yang Where fresh waters meet the sea Brackish and sweet
The sonnets we sing

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Who Rides?

Louise Wynn

Camas, WA

You never know who you'll see on this bus.
Not Shakespeare, for sure. But what if you did see him? Here's what I'd do: I'd ask for a rhyme,
we'd rap, double time,
then I'd say, "Thanks a lot, Bro, I flunked English because of you."

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

SEASON

4

July - December 2017

North Carolina

James B. — 4th Grade, Hearthwood Elementary School

Clark County Poet Laureate Christopher Luna's Poets in the Schools Program

In North Carolina

I see different types of birds, trees, and flowers.

I see different types of rocks.

North Carolina has buzzing bees and birds, flowering dogwood, southern pine and my Grandma and Grandpa, still watching.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Arizona

Gavin B. — 4th Grade, Hearthwood Elementary School

Clark County Poet Laureate Christopher Luna's Poets in the Schools Program

Red rocks dancing in dust devils.

Red Robins riding rain drops.

Wrecked nests dropping down on dying red roses.

Running runners working hard.

The red Phoenix red hot.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Picture of Your Heart

Brooklyn C. — 2nd Grade, Hough Elementary School

Clark County Poet Laureate Christopher Luna's Poets in the Schools Program

Picture of your heart.

Outrageously cool.

Everything is awesome!

Makes everything better.

Special for everyone.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

If

Ellie G. — 8th Grade, Amboy Middle School

Clark County Poet Laureate Christopher Luna's Poets in the Schools Program

If you ever got the chance to see yourself through someone else's eyes, you'd be surprised at how extraordinary you really are.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

The Way Earth Is

Allison K. — 5th Grade, Union Ridge Elementary School

Clark County Poet Laureate Christopher Luna's Poets in the Schools Program

Planet is turning,
hued places circumvolving, revolving the sun.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Lady of the Sea

Kaylee K. — 5th Grade, Union Ridge Elementary School

Clark County Poet Laureate Christopher Luna's Poets in the Schools Program

Laying in the sea where she's longed to be.
Tiny sailboat
afloat in the water.
Lime green grass
after a morning's splash.
Lady of the sea.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

My Loving Prince

Berenice L. — 6th Grade, Discovery Middle School

Clark County Poet Laureate Christopher Luna's Poets in the Schools Program

His warm, friendly smile welcomes me.
It welcomes me like the way the night welcomes the moon and stars.
His sweet light blue eyes sparkle, they sparkle like the ocean surface.
I love him for the type of person he is and for his personality.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

The Right Way

Jacob R. — 8th Grade, Amboy Middle School

Clark County Poet Laureate Christopher Luna's Poets in the Schools Program

Look forward, up never look down and back the right way is the hard way, but the wrong way is the easy way.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Book

Johanny S. — 6th Grade, Discovery Middle School

Clark County Poet Laureate Christopher Luna's Poets in the Schools Program

Closed, lonely.

Just sitting there waiting to be opened again like dead grass waiting for someone to play or a flower slowly dying.

It reminds me of a lonely old man, no grandchildren, no kids, alone wishing its pages were flipped again.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

We'll Remember These Days

Christina S. — 11th Grade, Vancouver School of Arts and Academics

Clark County Poet Laureate Christopher Luna's Poets in the Schools Program

We'll remember these days
Poised taut on the precipice of adventure
With the rain polishing our way
The future crooning beyond the next swooping gorge For who can forget the home which taught us
The sun doesn't need to be shining For a day to be ours for the taking?

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

SEASON

3

January - June 2017

from With Apologies to Andre Breton

Tod Marshall, Washington State Poet Laureate

Spokane, WA

Line up to the left if you believe in magic.

Line up to the right if you're here for wisdom.

Line up in the middle if you live driven by the feeling that you've just fallen in love.

Go to the back of the line if you've never fallen in love.

Go to the front of the line if you believe love can save the world.

Go home if you think this is getting sappy.

Go to sleep if you're tired; it's okay. Here's a pillow; it's called a poem.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

pavement pastoral

Christopher Luna, Clark County Poet Laureate

Vancouver, WA

there is a determined melancholy to the suicide dive of autumn leaves
as they tear themselves from the limbs of trembling trees to spiral earthward like eels caught in zoetrope flicker

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Hope, embossed

Gwendolyn Morgan

Vancouver, WA

Each one of us has an owl, sparrow, crow, an ordinary bird that follows us around our home.
Kali, Ganesh, and a host of gods and goddesses, step over the hearth. We pick up maple seed pods, hope embossed in several languages, yellow swallowtail, butterfly wings ten thousand things.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

A Long Ago Memory of Calmer Times

Bruce D. Hall

Vancouver, WA

Lightning flash, flash, and another flash walls shake, china rattles, chest vibrates in rhythm with kettledrum thunder wind howls, fire crackles, kettle bubbles buttery bread sizzles in skillet we savor our meal by fireglow listening to the music of the storm.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Calling

Jennifer Pratt-Walter

Vancouver, WA

The Earth is calling, even if you don't listen.

Get lost in Nature, and you will find yourself.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Camilla

Alex Vigue

Ridgefield, WA

She lets her son dress up in leftover pastels does not scorn him when he twirls in a dress only laughs and notes the skirt's shape as it swirls an opening flower, the pink of a cheek her own and his her father taught her how to garden so that she may cultivate a rare child

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Joy

Cherish DesRochers-Vafeados

Battle Ground, WA

The dawn has gone, the sun has risen
I'm finally free of my temporary prison

my heart's at ease my mind is still and joy is real

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Just Breathe

Bridget Nutting

Vancouver, WA

Breathe in, deeply – exhale, slowly.

May the eternal spirit of all that was, all that is, and all that will ever be

Surround you and caress you with His healing touch, Bringing you unending comfort and peace.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Subsequent Layers of Existence

Bill Lucking

Vancouver, WA

We exist in a present that is fleetingly fast swiftly moving our now towards a vanishing past.
Too soon our new-present too swiftly arrives, replacing the place where our present-now lies.
Subsequent presents come sliding on in and are quickly supplanted, again and again.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

from how to love

Desiree Wright

Battle Ground, WA

she's just a woman like me making her way in a world not meant for her to make it in

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

from Why We Don't Belong Here

Livia Montana

Vancouver, WA

All day it was raining and you told me, “That’s just how it is in some parts of the world.”
I prayed then, we wouldn’t stay on this planet for long.
You’ll think me particular, but you can’t blame me for desiring the dark of space, or how we’ve learned to make comets come to heel in our wake.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Eulogies Are for the Living

Angeline Nguyen

Vancouver, WA

Do not wait until the flower wilts to praise the gift of its aroma.

Celebrate
the buddings and bloomings before Winter extends its pale hand.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

SEASON

2

July - December 2016

A Candle, A Light Bulb, A Glowing Fire

Colwyn B. — 9th Grade, Fort Vancouver High School

Clark County Poet Laureate Christopher Luna's Poets in the Schools Program

Midnight black hair. Glowing, smiling, sending love wherever she goes. Eyes as wide and blue and deep as the ocean she lives across. Beautiful in mind, body, and spirit, wholly innocent as the sun. And she is mine, and I am hers.

ARTSTRA

poetry*moves*

Poetry Moves is a program of the nonprofit Artstra in partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Still I Rise

Elora H. — 6th Grade, Discovery Middle School

Clark County Poet Laureate Christopher Luna's Poets in the Schools Program

Someday I will grow the rest of the way up

I will do anything I set my mind to

I will do anything people with full sight do

But I do have full sight

I see the world differently

No one can stop me

Still I rise

poetry*moves*

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Don't Be Afraid

Ashley S. — 10th Grade, Fort Vancouver High School

Clark County Poet Laureate Christopher Luna's Poets in the Schools Program

Don't be afraid of love love will find you when you're ready love will find you when you learn to love yourself

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

From the Airplane

Jaden L. — 7th Grade, Vancouver School of Arts and Academics

Clark County Poet Laureate Christopher Luna's Poets in the Schools Program

Blinking lights, midnight silhouette, wire of a river,

Tiny headlights of automobiles commuting.

My circuit board of a city at night bears infinite intrigue.

I, spectator, sit transfixed.

Never has a simple town

been so significant to me.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Ego Poem

Andrew H. — 9th Grade, Fort Vancouver High School

Clark County Poet Laureate Christopher Luna's Poets in the Schools Program

My eyes are the ocean

My breath carries the wind

My palm holds the word

My essence is the light

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Space

Marley J. — 4th Grade, Hearthwood Elementary

Clark County Poet Laureate Christopher Luna's Poets in the Schools Program

I am sitting on a star inside the milky way looking at the planets looking at them from far away they are very fascinating

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Slowly Sinking

Rheanna N. — 9th Grade, Fort Vancouver High School

Clark County Poet Laureate Christopher Luna's Poets in the Schools Program

Fear is quicksand
it holds you captive, threatens to drag you down.

If you hold on to other people you can pull yourself out.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Stoney Surprise

Emma L. — 10th Grade, Vancouver School of Arts and Academics

Clark County Poet Laureate Christopher Luna's Poets in the Schools Program

Hermit crabs in minuscule shells snails leave slime trails

slick on the ragged stone.

Anemones wave hellos before returning to their dinner party.

The barrel chest bear says it's time to leave.

The small hands wave goodbye to new friends, and the tiny feet walk happily away.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Snow

Breanna K. — 3rd Grade, Riverview Elementary

Clark County Poet Laureate Christopher Luna's Poets in the Schools Program

We are freezing cold and are very icy and light.

We make you feel way beyond jubilant.

We are millions of tiny balls of frozen rain with a white coat.

We cover the ground with a humongous white blanket.

We sound like a peaceful warning.

We are snow.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Love

Jessica K. — 9th Grade, Fort Vancouver High School

Clark County Poet Laureate Christopher Luna's Poets in the Schools Program

I am my father's gentle goodnight kiss.

I am the aroma of pancakes with coffee in the morning.

I am the laughter of my childhood.

I am the sparkling stars in my father's loving eyes.

I am love.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

SEASON

1

January - June 2016

Excerpt from “Extern”

Neil Aitken

Vancouver, WA

Sometimes I dream of the ghost of a bird its eyes dark like mine asleep in the fold of a tree its shadow the shape of a harp.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Everything Settles

Tiffany Burba-Schramm

Vancouver, WA

The frost settles upon the ground.

Snow settles upon the limbs of trees.

The ceiling in my house settles; creates small cracks.

The floor creaks and settles the weight of dogs approaching.

We settle, let the weight of the world crack our ambitions.

We let others' harsh words and criticisms drape us like settled winter fog.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

We could fly

Diane M. Cammer

Vancouver, WA

yet we stand, feet bound to ground arms spread wide, wings in another world, another time waiting for wind, an updraft when all that's required is a single bold step into the unknown.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Pilgrimage, 1988

Sherri H. Hoffman

Vancouver, WA

Start at Dodger Stadium, Chavez Ravine, most perfect field. Onward to Candlestick, Wrigley, Three Rivers, Shea. Until Cooperstown, Holiest of Holies. Blessed with field grit rubbed into our salted skins, we'd say the sacred names. Koufax. Drysdale. Marichal. Campanella from the Brooklyn years. Jackie Robinson, born the same day as our Grandma Wildish. And Pee Wee Reese, who kept the faith, refusing to sign the petition to ban Robinson for being black. The game transcendent.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Excerpt from “Ours”

Erin Iwata

Ridgefield, WA

I have to believe that something of seventeen still lingers though she pains me with her adolescent optimism

I return, hoping she wasn't wrong that there is beauty in the stacked stones along the path that there is a path indeed mountains to be scaled and conquered that the world is still ours

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Counterpart

Tim Klein

Vancouver, WA

At this very moment someone somewhere is doing the very same thing you are doing for the very same reason.

ARTSTRA

poetry*moves*

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

From Ghost Town, USA

Clark County Poet Laureate Christopher Luna

Vancouver, WA

the dirt beneath Bonita's fingernails did not discourage him she was reading a bilingual edition of Dante's Inferno
on the 37
and that was more than enough

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Honeycomb Prophecy

Toni Partington

Vancouver, WA

In the residence of your heart
I wish to be a cubicle made of beeswax translucent, unfiltered, bright with buzz.

Together we will construct a confluence of resin and lace; a suspension bridge across hedge thorns and conflict.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Journey

Jennifer Pratt-Walter

Vancouver, WA

We are the tide's twin, swimming with the faithful senses of salmon—we smell fresh river from out of the salt, we are drawn home under moon-watch for as long as the journey takes.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

Fourth Plain Boulevard

Karen Read

Vancouver, WA

A home for hundreds walking—yet to name the dreams that rise before they dare to speak.

Colorful signs that fly above—untamed wave low and high, press forward, reach, and peak.

So often you find only what you seek.

Your power lines of old are not here sown.

They surge beneath this skin of place unknown.

ARTSTRA

poetrymoves

Poetry Moves is a program
of the nonprofit Artstra in
partnership with C-TRAN.

artstra.org

